

NEARLY ALL BIG INDUSTRIES AFFECTED

Coal Shortage Forces Shut Down In French Factories

Plants Now Producing Essential Foodstuffs Are Exempted From Law

By PAUL GHALI

VICHY, Dec. 20.—Owing to France's coal shortage all factories using more than 20 tons of coal or its equivalent in gas or electricity must shut down for a fortnight, between December 21 and January 4, according to a law published in Vichy's official journal. This law hits practically all big French industries and extends to the occupied as well as the unoccupied zone.

U.S. General May Head All East Strategy

In the heart of the Allied defenses

The main task now confronting the Allies is the defense of Singapore, because the loss of that vital bastion may mean the difference between a long war and a comparatively short war.

The observer need not guess what will tell the story, and that sometime within that period MacArthur may move over from the Philippines to Singapore to direct the show there.

The anticipated MacArthur move was viewed as merely part of a broad general strategy.

EDMONTON, Dec. 20.—(CP)—More than 1,500 men were accepted into Saskatchewan Youth Training schools in November taking instruction in agriculture, mechanics, or war industry. Ron H. Staines, minister of education, reported yesterday.

Japan Admits Stiff Defence At Hong Kong

said they had fought their way into Shumshui on the mainland border, forcing the Japanese to send troops back from mainland territory into Hong Kong.

"We hadn't lost the Prince of Wales and the Repulse it might have been different," one official said.

The battleship Prince of Wales and the battle cruiser Repulse were sunk by Japanese air attack off the coast of Malaya.

"Now apparently we haven't the strength to get a relieving force all that far away."

Surrounded by hundreds of miles of hostile sea on one hand and hostile land on the other, Hong Kong's fate looked hopeless as her fight is magnified."

By The Canadian Press

In the first word flashed from Hong Kong in 24 hours, Governor Sir Mark Young reported that he had been ordered to leave Hong Kong today while Japanese dispatches pictured the island's capital as captured and declared Japanese flag was flying over Hong Kong harbor.

"The governor of Hong Kong reported that he had been ordered that operations are proceeding on the island," the colonial office in London announced.

ADMIT BODY

Domestic news agency reports huge fires were raging in many parts of Victoria, Hong Kong's largest city, and that British forces must not be dismissed as negligible in the defense of the island.

The Alberta government is preparing to assist and to co-operate with the Canadian government in whatever manner we can best serve in the development of the Far East.

"The importance of this problem has assumed an increasingly ominous significance since the startling changes have taken place in the war situation in the Pacific."

"Everyone must agree that there is a definite need for Canada to take a stand against the Japanese, but I am sure that, like all other countries, we must do our best to maintain our neutrality."

The news from Edmonton does the Mackenzie River Valley would be much easier and less costly to construct, and we have the dangerous less difficult to maintain. Furthermore, there would be greater assurance that it could be kept in all the years to come.

With the exception of the Mackenzie River Valley, which would top unlimited supplies of fuel oil and would open up vast new areas of the interior which are so essential to our war effort and to the reconstruction period after the war.

DUAL AUTHORITY

In mid-November, the number of authorities connected with the building of this road might cause unnecessary delay, which characterizes dual authority in any great enterprise. Should this road be built, however, there would be four different authorities involved, namely, the Canadian government, the provinces of Columbia and the major governments of the Dominion and the United States.

"We have pressed for the extension of Alberta's boundaries to include the portion of the North West Territories north of the 60th parallel. If this were granted, the responsibility for constructing and maintaining this road would largely fall upon the province of Alberta under the supervision of the Canadian government, the Dominion and the United States, which would, of course, finance the project."

"It would seem plainly obvious that should the International Boundary Commission decide that the proposed extension of Alberta's boundary is necessary for the defense of North America, the refusal of the Canadian government to grant the edge Alberta's claim in the construction, or to co-operate with the Canadian government in developing the Alberta route, would largely disappear."

"It is about like refusing, however, to make immediate action must be taken, not only in deciding the line to be followed for the ship channel of the St. Lawrence River, but also in the case of the Motorway across the prairies."

A charge of carrying a concealed revolver against Smiley was set aside when he was released from Barrehead on Monday.

Chief Crown witness against Smiley was Captain Kessler, logging camp manager. Charges of retaining possession of a stolen car against Kessler was withdrawn after he testified.

Theodore Smiley Will Stand Trial Possession Count

Theodore Smiley, 26, was committed to stand trial by Magistrate Miller in police court Friday before his possession of an automatic pistol was charged.

He was arrested on an episode of "malicious mischief" at 17 Japantown, where he snatched the 4,200-ton Russian freighter Peropon on route to Vladivostok.

It would seem plainly obvious that should the International Boundary Commission decide that the proposed extension of Alberta's boundary is necessary for the defense of North America, the refusal of the Canadian government to grant the edge Alberta's claim in the construction, or to co-operate with the Canadian government in developing the Alberta route, would largely disappear.

Looking them Over

JACK KELLY

WHEN Greeks meet Greeks in a foreign land the odds are five to one that they will start a war. When Norwegians meet Norwegian in any foreign land where there is the slightest possibility of snow falling, the odds are also five to one that they will start a ski club.

It was just 30 years ago today that a little group of Norwegians met here in Edmonton. Most of them had been in Canada only a short time. The pine-clad hills along the valley of the Saskatchewan restrained them from their homeland and that made them think of skiing and without more ado they organized the Edmonton Ski Club.

It was not the first club of its kind in western Canada, it was one of them.

The citizens in these parts cast a furtive eye on those "Norfolk" and their strange contraptions called skis. The soudough openly scoffed at such foolishness, pointing out that snowshoes were the only things worth a walk in the Canadian Rockies.

Now these oldtimers could hike on snowshoes about as fast as the average man could trot on bare ground, so they challenged the greenhorn Norwegians to a race from where the High Level bridge now stands to White Mud Creek—the snow-covered surface of the river. The Norwegians, their skis, left the snowshoe adherents completely out of sight after the first mile.

The Ski Becomes Respected

THAT brought the ski into respect in Edmonton—a position which it has steadily consolidated ever since. Later on during that winter of 1911-12, the newly-formed club staged a demonstration of jumping at the present site on Camrose Hill. Here Johnny Houghan, still one of the most active members of the organization, jumped 12 feet before a crowd of 800 people spectators. It was a D-movie record.

However, the sport was held back by the First World War and the fact that there was not a sufficient demand to warrant stores importing the skis from Norway. Women hadn't swum into the sport world then and fashion creators hadn't started turning happy ensouled girls every girl long to take up skiing.

Then, about six or seven years ago the skiing craze broke loose in Canada and the United States. And the Saskatchewan Valley here was soon packed with skiers. The Edmonton Ski Club hopped along with the rash—improved its jump, fenced in spacious grounds, erected a new club house and installed floodlights for night jumping—the first in western Canada.

The Giant Behind the Scenes

THAT is the story of the Edmonton Ski Club as a small inner circle of enthusiasts who supplied the power and ideas that made things click.

Tonight, when the club celebrates its anniversary with a big party at the club-house, some of the older members will undoubtedly call for a toast to Major Flook and everyone who knew this crazy giant leap in the field of inaccuracy with maybe a little catch in his tail. This shaggy giant was the father of the Edmonton Ski Club.

In his younger days, Major Flook had been an outstanding boxer in Norway. When he was 22 years old he came here and settled. In 1915 he enlisted with Edmonton's Fighting 49th and when the Seine he lost a leg. He never could get his beloved skis again, but he worked day and night to work and swim, to build the fitness facilities possible here to others to do the same.

The major has passed on to Valhalla, where snow conditions are always perfect, where you can snowshoe all day and finish right where you started from and where nothing ever breaks. But he left a striking memorial behind in the Edmonton Ski Club.

The Major Would Protest

AS I write this I can shut my eyes and see the major sitting again at the end of my desk with his cane, telling me this is a lot of boozing and that "Johnny" Houghan and half a dozen others did far more for the sport than he did and the others did play leading parts in establishing club and sport, but each of them will tell you that the major was the big spark plug.

No night was ever too cold or stormy for Major Flook to take his cane and limp down to the newspaper offices with some item that he felt would help his beloved club. Night after night he would talk about plans, the club, the skis, the equipment, the skiers, the skating rinks, the snowshoeing, the dogsleds, the bigger jumps, floodlights, amateur jump for beginners, and by retelling plagues the men in them materialize. Eventually he hoped to compete in the winter games, skating rinks, toboggan slide, a bigger club-house with glas in veranda and from which to watch, locker rooms, shower baths, a sauna and waxing skies—everthing.

Nearly three years have passed since Major Flook died, but today on the thirtieth anniversary of the Edmonton Ski Club he rates a general salute as a sportsman, soldier and man who unselfishly built for the enjoyment of others. In my book no higher tribute can be paid to a man.

Yank Power Dominates

37 Records Broken Or Tied By American League In 1941

CHICAGO, Dec. 20.—(AP)—Thirty-seven baseball records will need retouching in the American League statistics book for 1942. New York Yankees contributed several notable marks in the recent season. There was Joe DiMaggio's unparalleled run of hits in 56 consecutive games, and also his blast of three doubles and a home run against Detroit July 20 to tie a league mark.

The New Yorkers hit at least one home run a game for 25 straight nights. Jimmy Foxx of Boston for the past season had the best hitting record in the circuit, hitting .369. The Yankees' record for the season, they added the 17th year to their record of consecutive summers of 100 or more home runs they gained their 22nd year of leading the loop in round trips.

Alvin Dark of the Yankees equaled major league record for fewest sacrifice hits with 49; set major league mark of seven seasons in which they won the lead, gaining 100 or more home runs in one season. Eddie Gaughan's major league mark, Foxx alone struck out 100 times, adding a record of 100 or more walks. The record of leading the loop in strike-outs.

Believe It Or Not—

—By Rob Ripley

WINNERS

Ripley's "Believe It or Not" Contest

1st Prize $15.00

J. B. STARKY, 10632, 92st, EDMONTON

Our truck No. 6 hauling coal from the mine to the University of Alberta has a wheel that always breaks. The first time it happened we had to roll over the sidewalk and smash the picket fence of Howard & Beauford, undertakers (then located at 106 street). The insurance company refused to pay for the repair because the wheel was not broken in the same place twice. The next year the same truck returning by the same spot lost the same wheel and I destroyed the same section of the fence (the new section was not yet built). This time the insurance company would not pay for the repair because the wheel was not broken in the same place twice. When the same insurance company they at first advised that the claim had been paid, it turned out to be exactly the same day of the year. The trip was six miles and the truck was empty. The second time the wheel broke loose when the truck was returning empty on the pavement in each case and it was the only two times the truck ever lost a wheel.

Roster Promises Expansion To 300

With the promise of an expansion to more than 300 members, the Edmonton Ski Club will mark its 30th anniversary during this weekend. The only organization of its kind in western Canada offering floodlighted skiing, the Edmonton Ski Club in its 30th year finds among its members instructors and personnel from some of the greatest skiing centres in the world.

Among talented members of the north blade fraternity are Natalie Raath, Miss Canada, and Eddie Miles, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Jamison, formerly of the Lake Louise Club, and the late Dr. John Macmillan.

It is hoped that Peter Vajda will return shortly from Banff to add to the wealth of ski talent that has appeared in the club since its inception. Vajda, who has been teaching in the United States, will be added to the roster.

Ken Silverton: Has been treasurer for many years. His son, Ken, is a member of the club.

Ken Silvertone: Has been treasurer for many years. His son, Ken, is a member of the club.

Wally Stauffer: Last year president of the club's representative to the Northern Alberta Ski Zone that Muriel Marshall: Formerly known as "Pinkie," she is the president of the Canadian Women's Ski Association.

Mrs. Ned Godwin: Vice-president of the club. She is a member of the Northern Alberta Ski Zone.

John Gibson: Social convenor, has been working hard to keep up club membership until now, and the first new members have arrived.

The first new members to join the club this year were the McMillans, Mr. and Mrs. McMillan, and their son, John, who is a skier.

John Gibson: President of the Edmonton Ski Club.

John Edwards: A skier, he is the manager of the club's ski school.

John Edwards: Propaganda Minister, is the lad who lets the rest of the world know what the Edmonton Ski Club is up to. This year he has been working harder than ever to keep the club's name before the public.

Organization Climaxes Outstanding War Work With Unit Presentation

The Edmonton Council of Jewish Women announced Saturday donation of a mobile kitchen unit for service in the abled areas in Great Britain. The presentation was made through the Canadian high commission in London.

Since war was declared the Edmonton Council of Jewish Women, in conjunction with the Edmonton Jewish War Effort Committee, has quietly and generously assisted in the nation's war effort, beginning with a cash donation of $2,000 to the Federal treasury. More than $15,000 has been raised by 250 Jewish families, individuals and organizations, adding up to their contributions to the national war effort appeal.

The Legion had a delegation sent to the unit presentation by the committee, the following articles being donated for that purpose: Three folding chairs, two leather footstools, eight floor lamps, six leather chairs, 12 end tables, two oak library cases, four bookshelves and numerous other articles.

Assistance was given in the furnishing of the offices of the Legion, the Legion hall, and also in the furnishing of messes at Camps for the officers, non-commissioned officers and men. The messes, field stoves, eight leather chairs, 18 floor lamps and 20 smoker stands were supplied by the Canadian Red Cross and the Canadian Army. In addition the committee furnished the Grande Prairie messes, and also donations to the messes at Fort Macleod, and the men's mess at the Canadian Army camp at the northern centre. Donations of furniture were made also to the newly-formed Wing Club in Edmonton.

OTHER ASSISTANCE

In addition to this work a steady stream of clothing, cigarettes, books and other supplies have been sent through the efforts of the Jewish Council of Women and the Jewish War Effort Committee.

For the last year more than 30,000 magazines have been collected and distributed to the various navy, army and air force depots in central Alberta.

Continuous sewing and knitting activities have been organized by the Councils in addition to 100 new garments having been made by the Canadian Red Cross while 400 garments, including suits, jackets and coats, were made by the H. H. Webb hardware store in Edmonton.

Recruiting Here Is Again Slack

Enlistments in the Canadian Army (A) took a slight drop Friday, with only 12 volunteers going before medical boards at the Prince of Wales Army, according to Lt. Col. E. C. MacLeod, commanding No. 18A District Depot.

Lt.-Col. Elliot forecast a full month after the holiday period a sharp increase in recruits in January.

Brig. F. M. W. Harvey, M.C., director of personnel commandant, D.M. No. 13, who is a city visitor over the weekend, will interview candidates for active army commanding posts with the provincial public works department. Previous to coming to the Air Force he had been working with the department in Calgary.

A joint meeting sponsored by the Canadian Electrical Association Employees and the United Mine Workers of America, and called in aid of the Kirkland Lake Miners, was held at the Hotel Alberta at 8 p.m. Sunday. It was announced by Walter Tree, official of the C.E.A.R.E., that 1,000 miners would be entitled, "Facts About the Kirkland Lake Strike." Speakers on this subject were Al. H. D. Ainsley, John Stokaluk, Calgary vice-president of District II of U.M.W.A., and George W. Williams, western organizer for the Canadian Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

Read this column every Saturday for interesting information by your local Optometrist.

Bring Your Eyes Through The Fog Of Faulty Vision

To have faulty vision is to live in a foggy world—a world of haze and blur of strain. You see objects as though a mist or distorted beauty is lost. Daily tasks are more difficult; more tiring less efficiently performed. The newspaper or magazine that you have to hold at arm's length to read; the telephone book that is blurred. Driving a car or crossing a street or working at a machine with moving parts becomes dangerous. Fatigue rules life of mind and body. Vision is a precious gift. Don't let it go to waste.

More than 90% of all visual faults can be corrected. Yet seven people in ten have faulty sight, and only two of these have their sight corrected. That means that five people in ten today are unable to see because they do not realize their vision is faulty. The change in eyesight may have developed so gradually over a period of years that no person's first inference is normal eyesight. That means that he can see only through his own eyes, has himself no means of knowing that he still needs objects which others can see.

It is time to bring about more efficient, more enjoyable living. See an Optometrist TODAY!

Christmas Greetings

In THIS English language of ours there are a lot of phrases that have lost their meaning through thoughtless, continual use. Is the phrase "Merry Christmas" still as sincere as it was meant to be when coined years ago?

How often, when we say to a friend, "Merry Christmas," do we really hope that his Christmas day will be filled with merriment. Do we really hope that for him this day will be filled with fun—the joy of old traditions, and all the rest that the festive season stands for—or are we mutinously using an artificial phrase because it's the thing to do?

Please, let us say what we mean. Please we never let why we say it or how people started saying it in the first place. It doesn't matter a great deal how the phrase itself started. The meaning of Christmas is still present. If in saying "Merry Christmas" we keep alive a custom, a ray of hope that dates back to the birth of that blessed Babe so few centuries ago, then let us keep on saying it in this season of the year. Merry Christmas!

Office Boy In Studios Is Big Job

BALTIMORE STAFF
Studio office boy, pin-hitting for vacationing Paul Harrison

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 20.—"Be nice to the studio office boys, because they're the ones who make America go on all Hollywood," said a studio executive.

"I don't believe that's the only reason they're here, but they are always plugging for off-fee boys."

I recently returned from serving eight months in the Army, and had a picture made showing me, that picture, certainly put me in good with the studio office boys.

We're pretty lucky office boys. Hollywood comes over to our office and says, "We've got a show. We like to get reactions from the boys because he says we tell him the truth."

Norm Paquin called all the boys out to the stage when she recorded her "Glamour Girl" song. She was very frank about her likes and dislikes, and the same. We are probably her closest friends. She simply because we tried to make her going rather than as a movie actress.

Much of our work brings us in personal contact with stars, and soon get to know them very well. Stars like Claudette Colbert, Bob Cummings, and others. Some other day you name gets a great deal of attention, but the other day a secretary, Mrs. Elinor Bergman, received just as much service as any of them. Her name is Elinor Bergman, and she has been a secretary at Paramount since she was a girl.

After refusing several secretarial offers, Elinor accepted a role as a secretary, but after the newsreels saw the picture they liked her so much that she got another role in "I'll Be Back in a Flash." Here's a funny thing about it: the secretary was cast as Kim's maid. She had made Christmas tree decorations and was planning to sing carols at the hospital.

Canadian Girls in Training will hold their Christmas vesper service at First Baptist church on Sunday, Dec. 13, at 7 p.m. Carol singing will start at 6:30 p.m.

—BY ANNIE L. GAETZ.

CHRISTMAS to the early settlers of this western country was not what one might call a thrilling event, but it was perhaps very satisfying at that.

The house was decorated with spruce brought for the occasion, giving it a festive air. Mr. and Mrs. Settler were busy making presents and merrymaking, and the rag dolls, cradles, hobby horses, and anything that could be made from odds and ends. These were not expensive gifts, but they were none the less appreciated. Often a box arrived from "back home" holding untold treasures. Usually mother had some other surprise tucked away—candy, nuts, and perhaps some much-needed apparel.

The man of the house planned to kill a fresh young deer for the occasion, and a bunch of venison was always welcome. Neighboring bachelors were asked for dinner, ears were laid aside for the dogs, and whole hams were set this day apart as a time to be remembered.

The Indians did not observe Christmas with any special festivities, but they soon learned that this, the white people was a season of giving. They, too, had many things abounded. They took advantage of this spirit to make a family Christmas, and presented gifts for a certain child, which every girl was taking part.

McDonald: Memphis recently had its first Christmas service at white House. Harrison, the president, presided. Major McCloud was present. Many Negroes were wedded.

Saints: The girls are putting on a pageant for the White Gift service, called "The Christmas Story." Richard McDonald, father of the saint, is assisting.

Macdonald: The girls are packing Christmas hampers for needy families, and will pack cards for the colored community.

Robertson: One of the senior girls of coloring snapshots and has planned a housing party for the colored. They could not eat what was served, so the girls left.

Leavenworth: The girls have made Christmas tree decorations and are planning to sing carols at the hospital.
